

q socials: with MARY LOUISE III

Q Magazine now offers business and event advertising packages on our social media: TikTok; Instagram; Facebook; Reddit; and our social media manger, Mary Louise III, pages.

There are multiple, constantly evolving package options catering to the specific needs of every organisation, business and government department. An integral part of this new campaign will be to highlight articles and topics in each issue of Q Magazine.

Advertisers are able to take advantage of this innovative and cost-effective option with name mentions topping and tailing each post - designed specifically for TikTok.

4 second social media display videos are also available for those advertisers who have purchased advertisements in the main publication.

In addition to Q Magazine representatives attending events such as concerts, plays, festivals, the theatre and the like, 1 minute social media visuals will be produced - sponsored by either individual event organisers or producers or advertisers with a specific interest in these industries.

As an incentive, those who promote Q Magazine in their social media pages, Q Magazine will offer a 10% discount on any and all Q Social Media advertising.

We look forward to welcoming you as an advertiser and supporter of Q Magazine: supporting our community since 2004. Please like/follow/add/subscribe to the following Q Social Media pages.
